

How to Use the Cutting System

The cutting system is used to cut fabric layers according to specific garment patterns.

To operate the cutting system, first load the design file into the machine using the “Import Design” option in the software.

Next, place the fabric on the cutting table and align it properly.

The system automatically detects the fabric thickness and adjusts the blade pressure.

To start the cutting process, press the “Start Cutting” button.

Once cutting is complete, you can view and print the cutting reports using the “Generate Report” option under the Reports tab.

Reports include details such as fabric utilization, cutting time, and operator name.
